

Data Use Policy

Your privacy and data protection are important to us. This document outlines how your data will be handled depending on the options selected during your use of this platform.

Scenario 1: No university selected

If you choose not to select a university when completing the questionnaire, no data will be stored by the app, nor will it be used in any way. Your responses will remain local to your device and will not be transmitted or saved.

Scenario 2: University selected + Consent given

If you select a university and check the box "I give consent", the following data will be shared with the university you selected:

- Your name and email address
- Your responses to the questionnaire

This information will be used by your institution to identify training needs and, if applicable, to offer personalized support as defined by the institution's internal policies.

Scenario 3: University selected + No consent given

If you select a university but do not check the consent box, only the questionnaire responses will be shared, excluding your name and email address. These responses will be anonymized and used solely for general analysis of staff training needs in teaching within academic units.

In this case, no personal data will be stored or sent to the server.

Scenario 4: No consent box shown

If the consent box does not appear when you select your university, it means that your institution has chosen to collect data exclusively in anonymized form by default. In this case, your experience will follow the same protocol as Scenario 3: only anonymized questionnaire responses will be used for general analysis purposes, and no personal data will be collected or stored.

 If you do not wish to share either your personal information or your questionnaire data, please do not select a university.
